

We, the undersigned, are fed up with strategic voting and vote splitting and urge our politicians at all levels to implement choice voting to replace the current “first-past-the-post” system.

Instead of only marking an X, you list your first choice and your second choice if you have one. If no candidate gets a majority, the last placed candidates are dropped and their votes will go to their voters second choice. This will end strategic voting, and should encourage participation and reduce negativity during elections. (More info can be found at choicevoting.ca)
